Design Services

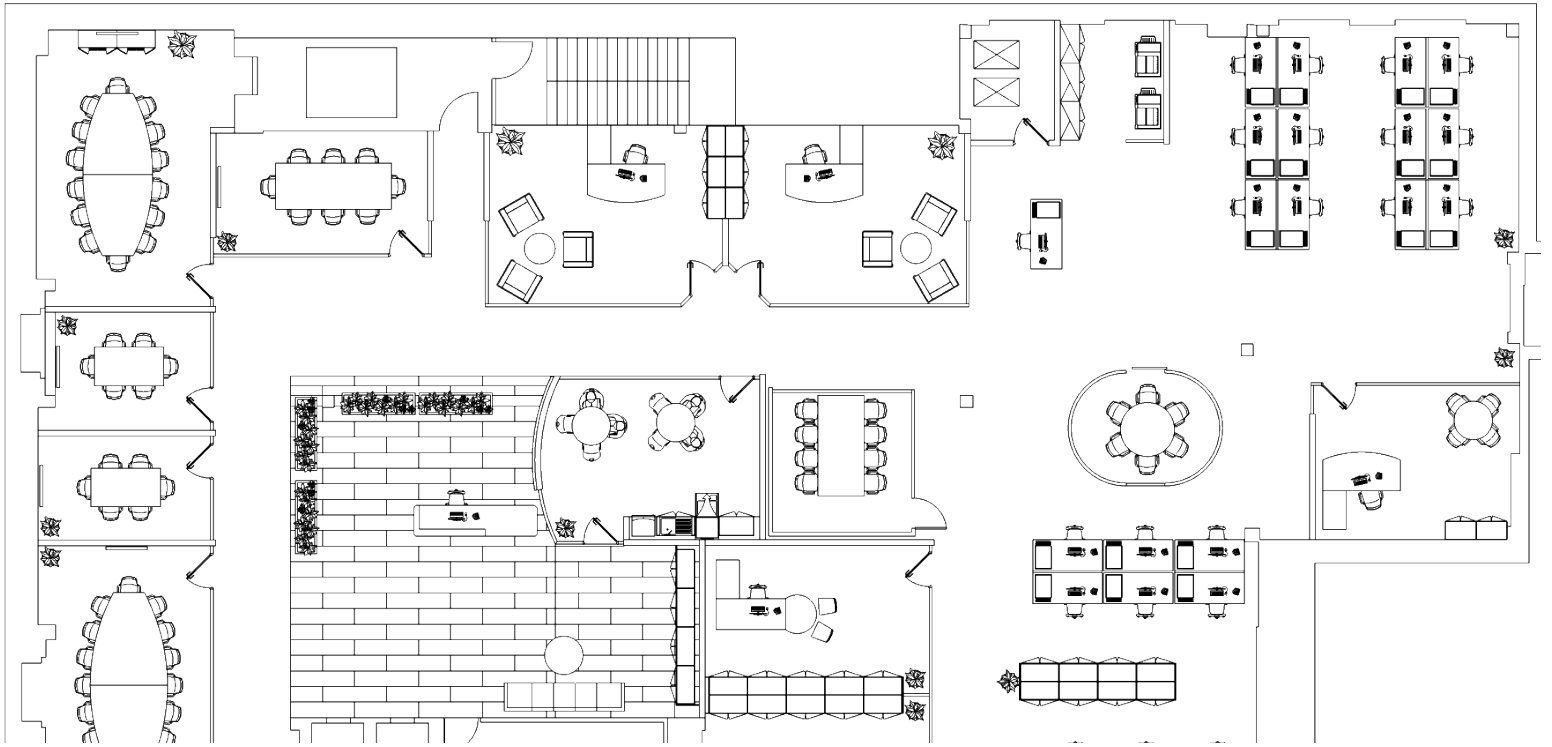
By combining our CAD (Computer Aided Design) capabilities with our extensive knowledge and experience of the office furniture and interiors sector we are able to offer independent and impartial help with the design and planning of your boardroom and meeting space.

Following our initial consultation to define your objectives, we will carry out a survey to take the initial dimensions, note positions of windows, radiators, doors and columns together with any other elements we believe might be crucial in maximising the use of your floor-space.

We have three stages for designing your office space that consist of Consultation, 2D & 3D Layouts and Fully Rendered Visuals, to help determine your needs.

2D & 3D Layouts

Following any amendments that may be required, we can then undertake to produce a 3D view showing a number of different perspective, this allows you to visualise your office from any angle and helps to overcome many of the objections that can occur when planning a major refit or relocation.



Rendered Visuals

Subject to approval of the previous stages, we can then assist by producing fully rendered 3D views of your workspace. Now we can start adding colours to the office furniture products as well as wall and flooring finishes to allow you to view your finished office, this process allows you to make changes at the planning stage prior to the start of a project and has proved beneficial to many clients.

Whatever the dimensions of your office space, or the size of your budget, we can provide bespoke seating solutions where it matters the most. Our boardroom tables can be made from a wide array of materials including functional MFC or Laminate, sleek Glass and Veneer, eye-catching Corian, minimalist Concrete, beautiful Quartz Composite and even breathtaking Natural Stone.

From cutting edge to contemporary, we can create bespoke boardroom tables that are all crafted with consideration and care. From unique pieces that exude one-of-a-kind allure, to a focal piece that perfectly matches your existing decor, our tailor made boardroom tables will complete the look and feel of your boardroom.

We can also create and assemble feature tables for smaller meeting rooms, as well as stand alone pieces to add depth and interest to your waiting and reception areas. Tie the story of your brand together with complementary pieces that work well in any area of your corporate environment.

Aesthetics play a major part in the success of your boardroom. Multi-national corporations use their meetings spaces as the focal point for the design flair of their brand. As a space that commands respect, your boardroom must offer the ability to transition quickly from a meeting room to a training room at just a moment's notice.

Your boardroom is the beating heart of your business. It is where deals are made, where innovative ideas are born and where your employees learn the story of your business. The furniture you choose to use in your boardroom should be designed to make a statement about who you are as a company, and to reflect your values and corporate identity.

From traditional rectangular or oval tables that create the classic meeting room layout, to banquet tables that create a more intimate feel, the table you choose is at the core of your boardroom. Let us turn your boardroom into a space that truly inspires.

We can be commissioned to design and manufacture any size and shape of table to work within the confines of your boardroom space. We work with a wide range of solid surfaces that can incorporate additional design features. Using only the most aesthetically pleasing, durable table tops, placed perfectly on legs or frames that can be fully mobile, our boardroom tables are built to last.

Because every square inch of your boardroom is as important as the next, we pay attention to the smallest of details to ensure that the space works on every level. From the design of your table to the positioning of your chairs, the aspects that matter to you most become our biggest inspiration.

Tables with power sockets and data outlets add functionality to aesthetics, while ergonomically designed seating adds superior comfort. Our design process takes into account all of your organisations wants and needs, and our bespoke boardroom furniture solutions will ensure that your boardroom works as hard for your business as you do.
